JEFF MORRIS

THE GARDEN OF FORKING PATHS

for string quartet

Duration

7 minutes

Instrumentation

2 violins
viola violoncello

Program Note

In his short story, “The Garden of Forking Paths” (1941), Jorge Luis Borges imagines a labyrinthine book in which paths of time fork off from one another in a multiverse of possibilities. Ultimately, the story invites us to wonder about the role of fate in the paths we choose—could we have chosen another path and ended up anywhere different after all?

The music peers down a number of paths, each trailing off in a different direction, each landing at the new junction. It repeatedly grasps for stable, constant pitches, and they tumble off into sequences.

About the Composer

Jeff Morris has won awards for making art emerge from unusual situations: music tailored to architecture and cityscapes, performance art for the radio, and serious concert music for toy piano, robot, Sudoku puzzles, and paranormal electronic voice phenomena. He has presented work in the Onassis Cultural Center (Athens), Triennale Museum (Milan), D-22 (Beijing's avant-garde music scene), the International Symposium on Electronic Art (Vancouver, Canada), the Lyndon B. Johnson Presidential Library and Museum (Austin), and the Chicago Architecture Foundation's "Open House Chicago." His work has won awards in the Concours de Bourges (France), Viseu Rural (Portugal), Music in Architecture International Competition (Austin), the UnCaged Toy Piano Competition (NYC), and the "Radio Killed the Video Star" Competition (NYC). He has two albums of live sampling improvisations forthcoming from PARMA Recordings (distributed internationally and online via Naxos). Writings about his works and their aesthetics have been presented at the International Computer Music Conference, Generative Art International Conference, and Computer Art Congress and are published by Leonardo Music Journal, Springer, and IGI Global.

The image shows a musical score for four instruments: Violin 1 (Vln. 1), Violin 2 (Vln. 2), Viola (Vla.), and Violoncello (Vc.). The score is divided into four measures. The first measure contains musical notation for each instrument, including notes and rests. The subsequent three measures are mostly empty staves with performance instructions. The instructions for Vln. 1, Vln. 2, and Vla. are identical, while the instruction for Vc. is slightly different. The page number '140' is written above the first measure of Vln. 1. The page number '11' is in the top right corner.
