Introduction

The statistical tabulations in this volume are based on a Berkeley IGS Poll completed online in English and Spanish May 17-22, 2023 among 7,465 California registered voters, of whom a weighted subsample of 5,236 were considered likely voters in the March 2024 statewide primary election. The survey was conducted by the Institute of Governmental Studies (IGS) at the University of California, Berkeley. Funding for the poll was provided in part by the Los Angeles Times.

The poll was conducted by distributing email invitations to stratified random samples of the state's registered voters. Each email invited voters to participate in a non-partisan survey conducted by the University and provided a link to the IGS website where the survey was housed. Reminder emails were distributed to non-responding voters and an opt out link was provided for voters not wishing to receive further email invitations.

Samples of California registered voters with email addresses were derived from information contained on the official voter registration rolls and provided to IGS by Political Data, Inc., a leading supplier of registered voter lists.

To protect the anonymity of respondents, voters' email addresses and all other personally identifiable information derived from the original voter listing were purged from the data file and replaced with a unique and anonymous identification number during data processing. In addition, after the completion of data collection, post-stratification weights were applied to the survey data file to align the sample of registered voters to population characteristics of the registered voters statewide and within major regions of the state.

The sampling error associated with the survey results is difficult to calculate precisely because of sample stratification and the post-stratification weighting. Nevertheless, it is likely that findings based on the overall sample of registered voters are subject to a sampling error of approximately +/-2 percentage points at the 95% confidence level, while the approximate sampling error of findings from the likely voter subsample is +/- 2.5 percentage points.

Table 26: Q17(1) Last February U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein announced that she would be retiring from office in 2024 after 32 years in office. Since then, she has fallen ill and has only recently returned to the Senate after a two-month absence. Below are some statements that have been made about this situation. For each please indicate whether you agree or disagree. — Feinstein’s health problems are creating serious problems for the Democratic Party’s ability to get judicial nominees confirmed and get important legislation approved in the Senate (Statewide Registered Voters)

Table 39: Q17(3) Last February U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein announced that she would be retiring from office in 2024 after 32 years in office. Since then, she has fallen ill and has only recently returned to the Senate after a two-month absence. Below are some statements that have been made about this situation. For each please indicate whether you agree or disagree. — The calls for Feinstein to resign following her absence are rooted in sexism and would not be happening if an aging male senator were facing similar problems (Statewide Registered Voters)
