This page contains various texts from the International Biogeography Society, including editorial board information, society officers, and contact details. It also includes a mention of the society's magazine, frontiers of biogeography, its aims, and how to submit manuscripts. There are also links to the society's blog, Facebook group, and the Creative Commons usage policy. The page features contact information for the society and its officers.