Errata

New Phytologist 145 (2000), 1–3

In the January 2000 issue of New Phytologist, we published the forum article entitled ‘Cadmium for all meals – plants with an unusual appetite’ by U. Krämer. Since its publication, it has been brought to our attention that an error was introduced during typesetting. In the text several instances of concentrations are erroneously presented as mg^{-1} : these should be kg mg^{-1} .

New Phytologist 145 (2000), 367–421

In the March 2000 issue of New Phytologist, we published the Tansley review entitled ‘Numerical and physical properties of orchid seeds and their biological implications’ by J. Arditti and A. K. A. Ghani. Since its publication, it has been brought to our attention that an error was introduced during typesetting. On p. 391, Eqn 5, the horizontal line above the right side of the equation should form a square root sign.

We apologize to the authors and to our readers for these mistakes.
