The UCLA Historical Journal is dedicated to promoting excellence in graduate student research and writing. Published annually and circulated to colleges and universities nationwide and abroad, the Journal welcomes submissions from all fields of history and related disciplines.

The Journal is proud to offer the THEODORE SALOUTOS AWARD to the author of each issue's most outstanding article. The honor of the prize is accompanied by $500.

The Journal is presently soliciting papers. The deadline for submissions for Volume 13 is May 31, 1993.
EDITORIAL BOARD

Robinson Herrera, Editor-in-Chief
Sonja Jekich, Managing Editor
Holly Brewer, Book Review Editor

General Editors
Aithne Bialo-Padín
Matthew Restall
Lisa Sousa
Joanne Woodsum

Published annually. Subscriptions are $10.00 per year for institutions, $7.00 for individuals. Single issues may be ordered at the same prices. For orders outside the United States, please add $3.00. All orders must be prepaid and sent to UCLA Historical Journal, Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles, California 90024.

The deadline for receipt of manuscripts is May 31, but early submission is strongly advised. Manuscripts must be double-spaced, typed and submitted in triplicate to the Editor at the above address. Those which are accepted for publication must be made available on IBM/Apple diskettes. If authors wish manuscripts returned, a large self-addressed, stamped envelope must be included. For questions of style, including footnotes, consult the University of Chicago's Manual of Style, or Kate Turabian's A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations.

Indexed by Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life.

Partially funded by UCLA Graduate Students Association.

ISSN: 0276-864X
Copyright 1991, Regents of the University of California
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

ARTICLES

From Spurs to Silk Stockings: Women in Prime-Time Television, 1950-1965
Margaret Finnegan................................................. 1

Banking and Market Culture in Pennsylvania during the 1780s
Hans L. Eicholz......................................................... 31

Indians and Artistic Vocation in Colonial Cuzco, 1650-1715
John Alan Crider..................................................... 51

Racial Exclusion in the Mendicant Orders from Spain to the Philippines
Damon Woods......................................................... 69

NOTES AND DOCUMENTS

Quachi Ñudzahui: Murder in the Mixteca
Kevin Terraciano..................................................... 93

Yaxkukul Revisited: Dating and Categorizing a Controversial Maya Land Document
Matthew B. Restall.................................................. 122
"Goliath Was a Very Big Chichimec": Church Texts in Colonial Nahuatl
  Barry D. Sell.......................................................... 131

BOOK REVIEWS

Pleck, Domestic Tyranny: The Making of Social Policy against Family Violence from Colonial times to the Present.
  Holly Brewer......................................................... 147

  John A. Crider....................................................... 149

Weddle, LaSalle, the Mississippi, and the Gulf: Three Primary Documents.
  John A. Crider....................................................... 151

  Robinson Herrera................................................... 155

  Tom Mertes............................................................ 157

Sullivan, Unfinished Conversations: Mayas and Foreigners Between Two Wars.

Jones, Maya Resistance to Spanish Rule: Time and History on a Colonial Frontier.
  Matthew B. Restall.................................................. 159
Acknowledgments

It is with great pleasure that I present the eleventh volume of the Historical Journal. This edition features several excellent articles on a variety of topics, additional original research in the Notes and Documents section, and a fine assortment of book reviews.

I would like to offer a special congratulations to Margaret Finnegan, this year’s recipient of the Theodore Saloutos Award, made possible by the generous and steadfast support of Mrs. Florence Saloutos. The Journal is most grateful and honored to present this award. In her prize-winning article, Ms. Finnegan analyzes the changing roles which women were assigned and played throughout the early history of television. The other articles included in this volume are equally interesting. In his article on the development of the Bank of North America, Hans Eicholz postulates that there really was no conflict between commercial and agrarian interests as both groups often shared common goals. John Alan Crider’s article on the Indian painters of Cuzco illustrates the cultural syncretism which resulted from the interaction of Spaniards and Andean Indians. Extending our understanding of the friars in the Philippines, Damon Wood’s article analyzes the policy of limpieza de sangre and how it was used to exclude non-Spaniards from playing any significant role in the Philippine Catholic Church.

The Notes and Documents section features the analysis of three indigenous American languages, representing some of the latest, leading work in the field of colonial Latin American history. In this volume Barry Sell continues his valuable work on Nahuatl, Matthew Restall explores Yucatecan Maya, and Kevin Terraciano pioneers work in the Mixtec language of Oaxaca.

The driving force behind the Journal in the past few years has been Kevin Terraciano. Though Kevin is no longer an editor, his continued support and assistance often inspires those of us who are detracted by the heavy load of graduate work from an endeavor as important and ambitious as this publication. The editorial staff of Sonja Jekich, Lisa Sousa, Aithne Bialo-Padin, Holly Brewer, Joanne Woodsum, and Matthew Restall, freely gave of their time when more pressing matters were at hand. For this I thank them. I would like to especially thank Lisa Sousa for her editorial expertise and dedication, without which this issue would not have been possible. I would also like to express my gratitude to the following friends of the Journal... for their help in one way or another: Professor Scott Waugh, Barbara Bernstein, Ruth Ann Raftery, Sandra Turner, Carol Weinstein, Karen Knapp, Michelle Lew, and all others who have contributed to the final product.

The Journal is unique in the possibilities it offers students to publish their work, participate in the production of a scholarly journal, and read the work of their peers. Coming from another country where the possibilities of scholarly expression are few, I am grateful to be associated with the Journal.

Robinson Herrera
The UCLA Historical Journal

Congratulates

Margaret Finnegan

Winner of the THEODORE SALOUTOS AWARD

for her article

From Spurs to Silk Stockings: Women in Prime-Time Television, 1950-1965