The Journal of Law and Political Economy is an online-only, peer-reviewed, interdisciplinary, and international journal, hosted by the University of California, Berkeley School of Law, with Seattle University School of Law as a principal supporting institution.

The Journal is published on the eScholarship publishing platform of the University of California: <https://escholarship.org/uc/lawandpoliticeconomy>. ISSN: 2693-9681. eScholarship Publishing is an open access publishing platform subsidized by the University of California, managed by the California Digital Library, and offered free of charge to UC-affiliated departments, research units, publishing programs, and individual scholars.

Works published in the Journal of Law and Political Economy are published under the Creative Commons license BY-NC-SA 4.0. Under the terms of this license, anyone is free to copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format, or remix, transform, and build upon the material, under the following terms:

- Attribution — You must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use.
- NonCommercial — You may not use the material for commercial purposes.
- ShareAlike — If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you must distribute your contributions under the same license as the original.

The Journal of Law and Political Economy is a refereed journal that practices double-blind peer review. Article manuscripts deemed appropriate for the Journal are evaluated by two or more referees with expertise in the relevant subject matter and methodology. Double-blind peer review means that manuscripts are rendered anonymous prior to review, and that referees are not identified to authors. Essays and book reviews are not subject to double-blind peer review.

The Journal of Law and Political Economy will not consider any manuscript concurrently submitted for publication elsewhere.

Submission of a manuscript commits the author to publish the manuscript in the Journal of Law and Political Economy if accepted for publication by the Editors.

Submit articles and essays through our eScholarship portal at <https://escholarship.org/uc/lawandpoliticeconomy>, or through our Scholastica portal at <https://app.scholasticahq.com/journals/jlpe/dashboard>.
