We worry about ourselves that's only natural
We see that our children feel ashamed if they wear the same clothes twice in a week at school Wasn't like that when I was growing up but Well, we don't want their little psyches scarred Lots of therapy to cure them and such
So we need lots of clothes. . .

Lint filled over stuffed dim factories down Cramped streets of Hong Kong of Manila of Bogota
of Mexico City of New York hands moving at blisterpace
For baby milk for a crowded room for survival. . .

Checks cost sixty cents apiece by now and Home computers are being made cheaper and cheaper
Everybody's gonna have them only way to go
Do direct banking everybody's gonna have them. . .

Dust wells up choking in the over-crowded camp
Long limbed people who one generation ago roamed
As had their families from an ancient time
The roots and flesh gone with the dances
Instead to cluster around the buckets of running Cereal meal provided by the modern man. . .

Have you tried the cream croissants I love french food
I never eat fast food, too many additives and carcinogens
Have to watch my cholesterol, there's a new place that Has seven courses with a choice of 21 desserts

I never let my child eat packaged foods, only Fresh wholesome natural foods. . .

The woman placed her four children on Different corners in the market hoping the flow of Constant crowds past the stalls would not jostle or Crush them. With lightning speed she grabbed a Loaf of bread, nearly two days they had gone Without. She ran quickly, being chased by Security force through the crowds - stopping at each of her children to stuff a piece of the Bread into their hungry mouths, running
Desperate to feed her family before being caught. . .

Well we have to buy property just to keep some of our income I mean these taxes are just too much. Did I tell you my company is investing in Central America (middle East, West Africa)
Gonna open a plant down there, I only feel Sorry for the ones who have to go manage
It. They'll live on compounds of course but It's getting hard to keep security. . .

The old man sat on his haunches and rocked back
And forth to an unheard rhythm from his memory, Songs from a time when the village would return from digging the yams and chant, before all the young men were taken and given rifles and green uniforms, before the mines and the cocoa plants operated, before his wanderers spirit was stopped. . .

The soviets must be stopped we have to put up Enough nuclear weapons to make them realize They can't run over us. We have to be in Central America and those trouble spots because The soviets are trying to take over the whole world. . .

The woman had come from the green hills after the Temples were bombed. Her grandmother had told her
Of when the first ones came speaking French,
Then later she had seen the others speaking English and now they were speaking Russian and each time the hope of Peace, the thread of hope that one day she Could live as had her ancestors before her Grows thinner. . .

Have you seen my neighbor lately she had a breast Implant operation and looks great. I just think this Modern medicine is wonderful. My daughter
Was having trouble getting pregnant but I told Her not to worry there's artificial insemination,
Test tubes, surrogates she'll have her baby one Way or another. I'm thinking of having a Tummy tuck, I haven't gotten anywhere on My diet for years. . .

The woman clutched her baby and stood in line for medication. The antibiotics had been in storage for years but she couldn't get the herbs her mother Had always used. She got one handful of Tetracycline for the crust and eruptions around
Her baby's mouth and another for the hard Tender lumps she had along her jaw and under her arms. . .

We who have through the most powerful skilled and cleanest Modes of violence ever seen on the planet, turned the World arena into a huge funnel to empty its goods on
To us, we who have boasted and charged into war after War to keep the world save for white supremacy: To The trilateralist - to the social imperialist - to the Colonial apologist

Bob Marley sang:

"We a no know how we and dem a gone work dis out

But someone will have to pay for the innocent blood

That they shed every day

Oh children mark my words

Its what the Bible say."
